

Ms. A. 1. 1. 4. 17. 11

I am more surpris'd than I can express to hear that you have been here two or three times without my seeing you & I will not trust to Mrs Hamiltons Memory to tell you so I never heard of your being here once, till yesterday when I was not up - & really began to think that you had given me quite up a thought which was truly mortifying to me I likewise never heard of your being here the day Dr Abercorn was but it seems you did not ask for me - or I am certain every one in the House is so certain that I always am happy when you will call upon me that they would never think of denying me to you - you must excuse this scrawl but I am so heart at these Mistakes that I cannot be tolerably easy till you know that I am not in fault whatever you might think of me I should think sadly of myself if I was not (which I really am) ^{my dear Brother} your most affectionate & sincere Friend
